HIS EARLY LIFE; DISCHARGE OF PASTORAL DUTY. His sphere, fhongh humble, if that humble sphere Shine with his fair example, --and though snull His influence, if that influence all be spent In soothing sorrow, and in quenching strife, In aiding helpless indigence, in works From which, at least, a grateful few derive Some taste of comfort in a world of woe, Then let the supercilious great confess He serves his country, recompenses well The state, beneath the shadow of whose vine He sits secure, and in the scale of life Holds no ignoble, though a slighted place. Cowpeks Tasc. Amidst the multitude of valuable pastors who devote their time, their talents, and their industry, to the work of feeding the flock committed to their charge, few comparatively are remembered after the generation in which they live, and vast numbers are almost unknown beyond the immediate sphere of their labours. The incidents connected with their history comprise little more than the common routine of ministerial exertion, the quiet and unobtrusive efforts, daily made, for the spiritual benefit of those whom they are solemnly bound to instruct and counsel in the path of life. Their vows to give faithful diligence to the duties of their calling, to use both public and private monitions and exhortations, as well to the sick as to the whole within their cures, --to be diligent in prayers and in reading of the holy Scriptures,...
